DOCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS, VIRGINIA, FIVE In miles from the Verginia Central ratirosa and twenty-three miles from the Natural Bridge.—For more than thirty years these remarkable waters, analded by a single newspaper advertisement, have been growing, by mere force of the wonderful curse effected by them, into public favor, and a general celebrity throughout the middle and Southern States. It is confidently asserted that in those communities they stand without a rival in the curse of screenias chronic diarrhors, diapepts, obstinate diseases of the liver, of the kidneys and of the skin, op-th-limis and nervous affections, bronchitis larying its, and diseases peculiar to females. Pamplets containing analyses and a few out of many certificates voluntarily tendered to the proprietore, will be forwarded on application. The establishment is now fitted up for the reception of live hundred guasts. If Northern citizens are dispased to meet and mingle with an agreeable refined and social assemblage of Southerners, they will find this a pleasant "neutral ground"—whilst the admirer of the sublime and the picturesque will derive a rare enjoyment from the successful passag of the care across the summit of the Blue Ridge at Rookfab Gap, as well as in the contemplation of the Natural Bridge. After the first of July passengers breakfasting in Washington City or Richmond, will dine in Stauston and sup the same day at these Springs, thus bringing them within two days of New York without any night travel. French Life Among the Morenous The Vill.
Tremoved by a lady who has encaped from a worse foun legytian bondage.—By reading her revelations the worse will discover why to be that the women of Sait Lake have never complessed of the peculiar raction toos of the Mormoos. If what she says be true, and we have names, dates, and phoses, and evants within our own knowledge, corroborating many of her statements, then, in eed, it is high time that the crumes of these comming hyporribes were possibled by the governy ment, that the poor victims, who are being suit to early graves, were set at liberty. THE SOUTHERN CRITICS

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The Frankfort (Ky) Commonwealth in reviewing Mr. Brecher's new book, STAR PAPERS, speaks as follows:—
"He it had been told us in advance that Henry Ward Beecher had published a book, we should have expected to find it full set cenunciations and sarcasms aimed at the Scotth; or as least full of flings and gibes at 'commercial religion' and 'cotton conscience.' But here he is, not as a polemic, a controversal orator, or beligeront editor, but in the pleasant and quiet character'of an admirer of art and an archet lover of nature—a man of emotion and sentiment. We like him hugely in his new character. There is no possible dissemulation about his relish for woods, and gleen, and mossy rocks, and roaring mountain streams, with their whirting eddies and speckled troot. He evidently loves nature as a boy loves his first sweetheart. He enjoys her society with an ecitatic relish; and he describes her with a freenness and truth that almost transport his readers to the scenes his pen portrays, and gives them a share in the raral sparts he recounts. It is indeed a charming book."

The above book is having a most extraordinary sale, and it is giving pleasure and doing good wherever it goes. All bookselbers have it. Price 91 26.
